A Slip of the Pen.

Guy Guthrie was a town-bred youth who found, upon his father's death, that his position was not quite what it used to be when he had an overworked father to foot his bills and keep up appearances for himself and motherless sister.

What the careless boy would have done, had it not been for his father's maiden sister, Aunt Saphronia, no one knows, but she immediately sent for the brother and sister, cautioning them to bring all their belongings, for going to town was a luxury which she or her dependents did not often indulge in.

"If it were anywhere but in the country," sighed Guy, ruefully, "I shouldn't feel so about it."

"The green and blessed country," mused Susie, "I shall like it above all things."

"Yes, because you are a girl, and never have to do anything anyway. Now I'll have to plow and drag and transfer myself into a regular rustic, just for the sake of my bread and butter—a glorious prospect, certainly."

"Beggars cannot be choosers," returned Susie. "And I shall have to work too; Aunt Sopha wrote that she expected me to take care of the poultry."

Quite a roostecratic appearance you will make, won't you ?" laughed Guy, ruefully.

"I shall not listen to your fowl talk," said Susie, quickly, endeavoring to rouse Guy from gloomy feelings.

"Gobble, gobble, gobble," sang Guy from the Mascotte.

"Ba-a-a," came a merry voice from the doorway, and then George Maynard came into the room, saying:

"Practicing up for the stage, Guy ? I thought I'd run in for a particular parting call before you left us."

The young man addressed himself to his friend Guy, but his eyes were fixed upon Susie, and he drew his chair up to her side.

"Very grateful, I am, sure," returned Guy, mischievously. "But, as my attractions always grow small and beautiful less when compared with those of my sister, and as I cannot consent to play the wallflower, I will decamp to see you later."

Quite a youthful couple were the two Guy Guthrie so considerately left to themselves for a last chat before their long separation.

Susie was a delicate little blossom of sixteen years, reared in all the idleness and luxury of a daughter of wealth; the change to the sunshine and activity of the country promised to be a godsend to her, while George Maynard was the picture of health. He was but eighteen years of age, but possessed every instinct of a refined and generous man.

His true heart had been proved by his conduct toward Guy and his sister. When their reverse had become known he had faithfully followed them from their beautiful home to the cheap boarding-house which they now occupied.

"So you are really going into the country, Susie ?" said he, when the clatter of Guy's departure was no longer heard.

"Yes," she replied; "and we can never be too grateful to Aunt Saphronia for offering us a home at this juncture."

"I like the country myself, or, rather, think I would like it. I never passed a week outside of the city limits. Perhaps some day, however, if you find a pleasant home there, I shall make you a visit and thus taste the pleasures of rural life myself."

"Yes," said Susie flushing a little. "Guy will probably write you and you will know how we are getting along. The worse fear I have is for him. I am afraid he will not be contented there."

"I shall certainly not lose sight of you, Susie. I think you knew that before I told you, and I want you to promise me before we part that you will not make any matrimonial engagements for five years. It seems a little eternity doesn't it, Susie ?"

The young girl made no reply, but the tears in her blue eyes, raised so trustfully to his, told George Maynard how deeply her feelings were stirred.

"Won't you promise me, Susie ? And you may he assured, if we are both living, darling, at the end of that time, I shall find you, no matter where you may be."

"I promise," said Susie, in a low tone. George drew the brown head to his shoulder and kissed the sweet face fondly.

"That's a darling. See, Susie, what I have brought you."

He drew from his pocket as he spoke a neck chain of elegant workmanship, and suspended from it was a locket of purest gold. He touched a spring revealing a portrait of his own sunny face hidden in the heart of the ornament.

"You see I did not want you to forget how I looked, Susie. Will you wear this for my sake ?"

"Indeed I will, George. I shall treasure it as a memento of the happy life I have left behind me."

"And a token of the life of the future, which will be still happier. Is it not so Susie ?"

A glorious rush of color was his answer, which deepened as he clasped the chain around her neck and kissed again her trembling lips.

Guy's footsteps were now heard ascending the stairs, and Susie had only time to dry her eyes when he entered the room. "Ha, ha ! If you haven't both been crying. What a precious pair of spoons ! Come, Susie and George, down to the parlor. Let's have one more song before we part."

The brother and sister did find a change in the tenor of their lives, but it was a change for the better. Susie growing strong and robust in her beauty, and Guy, forgeting rusticity, delved away at farm work, as if he had been to the manor born.

Occasionally they heard from the old friends, mostly through George Maynard, who corresponded regularly with Guy, buy they never had returned, even for a day, to the old scenes.

Two years rolled rapidly into the past and then Aunt Saphronia left them for a better home.

The two found themselves joint owners of as lovely a home almost as they could desire.

Guthrie Cottage was known for miles around for its grand old trees, its verdant lawns, climbing vines, and glorious roses of every variety.

Guy and Susie were entirely happy in their home, although sometimes they did look back to the pleasant days of their childhood.

One day Susie received a letter from a friend of the olden time. It read:

MY DEAREST SUSIE: I have just been listening to some glorious reports of your rural home, and another friend of yours and myself have determined to inflict our company upon you for a time. Who that other is I will leave for a surprise for you upon our arrival. Expect us Saturday.

MINNIE LITTLE.

Susie took the letter to her brother, where he was resting beneath a great oak in the twilight.

"You remember Minnie Little, Guy ?"

"Yes I remember her," he replied. "George writes me that she is a beauty and a belle. I shouldn't wonder if she had supplanted you, Susie."

"Nonsense," ejaculated Susie, impatiently. "Why can't you speak sensibly ?"

"You think it impossible for another to rival your charms ? What an exhibition of vanity, Sue !"

"Will you never cease your joking ? I want the ponies and carriage to go after Minnie Saturday."

Impossible, the ponies will be in use."

"Why, Guy, you wouldn't leave her to get here from the station herself, would you ?"

"Why not ?"

"What a tease you are. I repeat it. I want the ponies."

"And I repeat it, you cannot have them."

"Why, Guy, I don't believe there is a single reason why I should not have them."

"But there is."

"What is it ?"

"Because I want them to go after Minnie myself."

"I might have known it," said Susie, laughing. "Don't you want to do the housework, and let me farm it while Minnie is here ?"

"Yes," replied Guy, with comical frankness. "That is exactly what I would like."

"I thought so, but it wouldn't do you any good; Minnie wouldn't never notice an old farmer like yourself."

With this parting shot, Susie left her provoking brother to himself.

But before Saturday there came another note which read as follows:

MY DEAR SUSIE: I have been disappointed a day or two in visiting you. The friend who intended to accompany me was Mrs. George Maynard, but a sudden summons to New York has prevented our visiting you together. I shall bewith you on Tuesday.

MINNIE.

Susie Guthrie read this note through the second time before she could comprehend its meaning.

Mrs. George Maynard. Then George was really married, and his wife had thought of visiting her.

Thrice blessed Providence which had kept her away !

And she had fancied herself engaged to George Maynard. All too plainly she remembered George's words:

"Pomise me not to make any matrimonial engagements for five years." And the rest had been her own imagination.

Thank heaven, the news had come to her as it had, for now Minnie Little should never know, for doubtless George's wife was a mutual friend of theirs, and if Minnie knew, George's wife might suspect her secret also.

She unclasped her chain from about her neck and was about to cast it from her.

"I cannot ! Oh, I cannot !" she cried, and hid the long cherished souvenir upon her heart.

Guy was thunderstruck.

"I never imagined such a thing," said he; "I haven't heard from him very lately; but Sue one thing, don't question Minnie at all about him, or she may suspect something."

The black ponies were at the depot the next Tuesday evening, and came home again bearing a vision of loveliness in the person of Minnie Little.

She was delighted with the country, going into ecstacies over Guthrie Cottage.

"I never saw but one place as handsome as this, and that is George Maynards, in the suburbs. You ought to see it, Sue."

No reply from pale-faced Susie, and Minnie rattled away upon some newly-discovered beauty among the flowers.

After a time Minnie and Guy began to quarrel politely whenever they were together. Susie looked on in astonishment, and sometimes she had to use her best endeavors to prevent an open rupture.

Although Minnie doted on the country, she did not like the people who inhabited it at all, she said.

Guy, who had forgotten his own olden tirade about the country, was almost angry.

"Think of a man spending his whole life behind a yoke of oxen," she said.

"But I don't drive oxen," retorted Guy, making a personal matter of it. "I drive the best of thoroughbreds."

"They are not like Mr. Nicholson's," sighed Minnie.

"Mr. Nicholson is a simpleton," said Guy, sotto voice.

"Mr. Nicholson has a lovely turnout," returned Minnie, severely. And, oh ! he is just splendid, always ready to take one where she wishes to go."

"But I am ready to take you wherever you wish to go," said Guy, looking at her reproachfully.

"Oh ! I suppose so, but then I don't care to go anywhere," carelessly.

And then Guy would hitch up the despised span and drive off to the village and spend the whole day.

"Sue," Minnie would say after a time, "when do you suppose Guy will come back ?"

"I'm sure I do not know."

"Do you suppose he went off because he was vexed at me ?"

"I can't say. If you think you are to blame for his absence, why do you tease him so ?"

"Oh ! I don't know," Minnie would reply, and then she would be so silent when Guy did return that he would be angry with her for that.

"You are the strangest pair," said Susie one evening, when she had tried in vain for an hour to make them talk. "I do believe you are in love with each other."

That must have hastened matters, for the next morning they where both missing.

After her work was done Susie sat down upon the piazza to await their return.

She was engaged upon some intricate fancy work, and while busily counting her pattern she heard a step near her. She looked up to find George Maynard's brown eyes fixed steadily upon her.

"George !" she exclaimed.

"Susie !" he cried, and caught her to his heart.

For a long delicious moment she remained there, and then she drew away.

"Your wife !" she attempted to say severely.

"Yes, if you will have me," replied George.

"But—but, are you not married ?"

"Why, no. What made you imagine that ?"

For answer Susie put Minnie's letter, which was in her pocket, into his hand.

"I see," he replied. "I'll ask her what she meant by writing such nonsense as that. But I think she meant me, for I proposed coming down here with her."

An hour passed by during which George told Susie of a piece of unexpected good fortune which had befallen him. He wished to be married immediately and take her to the home Minnie had told her of. Susie had scarcely consented when Guy and Minnie were seen approaching them, the arm of the former thrown about the slender waist of the latter. All the mischief had come back to Guys blue eyes. He took off his hat to the couple on the piazza, and said, solemnly:

"I want but Little here below."

When the laugh had subsided George turned to Minnie.

"Look here, Minnie Little, what did you mean by writing to Susie about Mrs. George Maynard ?"

"Guy has been telling me something about it," she replied. "I did not know that I had done so. Let me see the letter."

George handed it to her. She read it and laughed.

"It does look so, doesn't it ? But, my dear friends, that is nothing more than a slip of the pen."

George W. Childs.

Anecdotes of his Generosity to his Employes and Others.

'Whatever may be said of the Philadelphia Ledger and its proprietor,' said President AmosCummings, in the Press club, the other day, 'George W. Childs is certainly the most generous and wholesouled editor and owner of a newspaper in the world. No worthy journalist or journeyman printer when in need ever applied to him and was refused. A year or two ago Mr. Childs saw that one of his old editors was worn out, and his work lacked the polish that had always characterized it. He called him into his sanctum one morning and said:

'You have worked for me forty years. You have always done your work honestly and acceptably. I am now going to retire you at full salary. Take your wife and children, go into the country and enjoy yourself. Come or send to the office every Saturday and draw your salary. Hereafter your time, as well as your salary, is your own.'

The old editor overwhelmed Mr. Childs with thanks, and departed. On the succeeding Saturday he went to the counting-room and the cashier refused to pay him his salary.

'Wait,' he said, 'and I'll go and see Mr. Childs about it.'

He went to Childs, and Childs told him to pay the man for a week's services.

'But he is no longer on the paper,' the cashier suggested.

'That makes no difference,' Mr. Childs remarked, 'pay him his salary as long as he lives.'

'But, Mr. Childs,' broke in the cashier, 'do you know this man is worth over three hundred thousand dollars ?'

'I hope he is,' Mr. Childs responded, 'It speaks well for him. The fact that he is worth that money is no reason why I should not pay him his salary after his forty years of faithful service. If he had squandered his money in rum or dissipation you would have said that it would be all right to retire him on salary because he had no money. His prudence and thrift deserves at least an equal reward. Pay him his salary as long as he lives, and say no more about it.'

The old editor died three months afterward, leaving four hundred thousand dollars to his wife and children, but his salary was paid up to the day of his death.

Another instance of Mr. Child's kindness to his employes is shown in the case of a man who was employed on the Ledger when Mr. Childs first bought it. He was a good workman, but a noted drunkard. When Mr. Childs assumed control he went to him and said, 'Mr. Childs, are you going to keep me on the paper at my present salary ?'

'What are you getting ?' Mr. Childs asked.

'Fifteen dollars a week,' the man replied.

'I will double it on one condition,' his employer said; 'that is, that you shall never drink another drop of rum as long as you are in my employment.'

The man accepted the proposition. He afterward became a well-known temperance lecturer in Philadelphia, although he complained bitterly when advertised as a reformed drunkard. Childs kept his eye on him, and he also has just been retired on salary. Whenever he desires to do any special work for the Ledger, he is at perfect liberty to do so. Meantime he draws his salary regularly and his bills of expense are never questioned. He, also, is said to be worth between three and four hundred thousand dollars.

Another instance of Mr. Childs' benevolence was shown in the case of Colonel John W. Forney. As the twilight of life approached Forney became very poor. His good heart had been strained to the utmost tension by pretended friends, and he was barely able to make a living. One day he met Childs.

'I am getting old,' the colonel said, 'and I owe a good deal of money to persons not able to loose it. If you could aid me in paying my debts, it would make the latter part of my life comparatively happy.'

'Go home and find out how much you owe,' Childs replied, 'and let me know in the morning.'

The next day Forney reported that he owed about twenty-five hundred dollars. Childs sat down to write a check for the money, when Forney said:

'Childs, you might as well make it five thousand while you are about it.'

The good natured editor filled out the check for $5,000 and passed it to Forney. Within a week the colonel wrote him a letter, saying that he had no idea how happy the receipt of the money had made him.

'I do not now,' he wrote, 'owe a cent to anybody in the world, and I am twenty-five hundred dollars ahead.'

The colonel, with prehensile friendship, had accepted the generous man's check, as a gift, and not as a loan.

Not long afterward the colonel died. He left his family in comparative poverty. On learning of this Mr. Child's remembered that while Mr. Forney was clerk of the House of Representatives at Washington, he had paid $30,000 into the public treasury on account of the defalcation of one of his subordinates. Mr. Child's went to Samuel J. Randall, told him of the situation of Colonel Forney's family, and asked him to see whether the money that had been paid to the government by Colonel Forney on account of the defalcation could not be returned. Mr. Randall investigated the case. It appeared that Colonel Forney, while technically responsible for the defalcation, was not actually to blame. Through Randall's influence Congress passed a bill returning the money to Forney's family, with interest. On looking over her husband's paper's Mrs. Forney discovered that Forney had borrowed the five thousand dollars from Mr. Childs. On the next day she appeared at the Ledger office and returned the sum. Mr. Childs said:

'I'll take the money, Mrs. Forney, and place it to your credit. It is for your use alone. As long as you live you shall have the use of it, but I want it placed so that it shall not be swallowed up in case of any misfortune to you.'

It is not generally known that the recent action of Congress in making Gen. Grant a retired general, of the army on full pay is due to the efforts of Geo. W. Childs; but such is the fact, as any one can ascertain by talking with the Grant family.—New York Journalist.

A Romantic Incident.

A Feeble Old Mother in Search of a Daughter—At the Wedding.

(New York Herald.)

Among the emigrants who arrived at Castle Garden the other day, was an old woman, bent with age. She had lived her allotted three-score years and ten and her feebleness made her an object of universal pity. On the steamer she occupied stifling quarters in the steerage, but her companions were kind to her, and the voyage was made as endurable as possible. She said that her name was Janowski and that she came from Cracow, Poland. She told an interpreter that she had a daughter somewhere in the states, near the Atlantic ocean, but where she did not know. The government officials finally decided to send her back to Poland under the law which prohibits the landing of emigrants wo are likely to become public burdens. The old woman protested, but in vain.

The day for sailing arrived, and she was told that she must go on board of the vessel. Age had made her childish, and she sank upon the rude wooden seats and cried as if her heart would break. An official gathered up her bundle of clothing, when the shawl which was wrapped around it became loose and the clothing fell out. An envelope, torn and soiled, fell on the floor, and the official picked it up. It bore the postmark of Newark, N. J., and was addressed to the old woman in Cracow, Poland.

'Where did you get this ?' asked the interpreter of the old woman.

'My daughter Jennie sent that,' she replied sadly. 'She is my only child, and all that I have on earth.'

It was decided to take Mrs. Janowski to Newark and endeavor to find her daughter. A gentleman, who had become interested in the old woman, volunteered to go with her, and next morning they started. Arrived at Newark inquiries were made, and a Hebrew woman was found who said that she knew Jennie very well.

'Come this way, I will show you,' she said.

The trio proceeded up Canal street until they came to a frame house in front of which a crowd had assembled.

'Jennie is to be married to-day,' said the guide. 'The ceremony is just being performed.'

The old woman forced her way through the crowd in the narrow entry. In the neat but poorly furnished room the wedding guests had assembled. The bride, attired in a dress of spotless lawn, trimmed with fresh daisies, stood besides the groom, a fine looking young Hebrew, awaiting the words which would make them one. A commotion was heard in the hallway, and, as the guests at the door separated, the bride uttered a cry of "Mother !" and the old woman rushed into her arms. The scene between the mother and daughter was very affecting, and tears of joy were shed at the nuptial feast.

A Low Valuation of His Life.

I remember upon one accasion tha Boyton was called upon by the fra tic cries for help of a man who ha got beyond his depth and plunged i to the breakers, followed by a sur boat. The treacherous undertow, set ting strongly seaward, had caught th unfortunate swimmer, and he wa being rapidly carried out of the reac of assistance. Boyton seized him jus as he was about to sink for the las time, and had him hauled aboard th boat. The man was utterly exhaust ed and it was nearly an hour before he was fully restored. He took o his bathing suit, dressed himself an then with rare magnanimity took fro his vest pocket a fifty cent note (silve half dollars were not as plentiful the as now) and handed it to Boyton say ing:

'I owe you my life, sir, and I hop you will call upon me whenever yo want a favor. Take this money an treat yourself and your assistants to good stiff drink. You certainly mus be chilled through.'

Boyton is of Irish extraction and a quick-witted as Philpot Curran.

'I think you have made a mistake he said. 'You put too much valu upon your life. Permit me to giv you your change,' and before the cres fallen miser knew what to reply, Boy ton had thrust into his hand forty nine cents in pennies, three-cent piec es and ten-cent notes. 'I will kee this note as a souvenir of the value o human life,' said Paul, coolly puttin it into his pocket. He has it to th day.—Phila. News.

Senatorial Snuff Takers.

When Senator Thurman first learne to take snuff, says a Washington lette to the Cleveland Leader, there wa hardly a man in the United States Sen ate who was not addicted to it. Cla was an inveterate snuffer, and there a story that he once stopped in th midst of an argument before the su preme court, and stepping to the fron asked Chief Justice Marshall for a pinc of snuff. Captain Bassett, the vener ble doorkeeper of the Senate, said the used to be a snuff-box kept on the des of the President of the Senate, and on of the duties of the pages of the pa was going to this box and bringing pinch of snuff to different Senator Captain Bassett was a page when Va Buren gave him every week fifty cen to buy snuff for his box. The last wee of his term he told Cap tain Bassett fill the box but forgot to pay him, an so President Van Buren owes Basse fifty cents to this day. When Fillmore b came Vice-President he grew disguste with the Senators running up to his des in the midst of a speech to get a pinc from the Vice-President's snuff-box and he told Mr. Bassett to buy two an put them on each side of the desk in th recess of the wall. Mr. Bassett di this, and the snuff-boxes are kept the to this day.

ULYSSES S. GRANT DEAD.

The hero of Appomattox, the ex-President and most distinguished and honored citizen of America died on Thursday morning at 8:08. Though his death was looked for every day by the people, the sad announcement cast a gloom over the entire nation and created feelings of grief in foreign lands, especially where Gen. Grant had visited on his tour around the world. The sorrow is as his fame was—national. The fact that a life with a most eventful and glorious career has come to an end impresses all his countrymen with deep regret and eventual little errors in that illustrious career are naturally forgotten in the general loss of a great man. As an American soldier, as President of the United States and afterwards as a private citizen and General on the retired list there never has been a man so widely known as Gen. Grant. His greatness manifested itself when the defender of the Union, when the victorious leader of our soldiers, during the two administrations of the Presidential office, and later during the bitter experiences of financial troubles and sickness. Grant's simplicity of personal conduct while in exalted positions, his enormous ot willpower and his patienee and bravery in suffering and death were marked characteristics of this famous man.

Gen. Grant was born in Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, April 27th, 1821 and was the son of a leather merchant. His father through the influence of a few friends in Congress obtained a place for his son at West Point from which institution Gen. Grant graduated and entered the service of the army as a lieutenant, taking part in the Mexican war. Tired of war he retired to private life as a farmer until duty again called him to his post as a soldier in the late rebellion. The rapid upward progress of the experienced and brave officer during the war is well-known and need not be repeated. As President he proved himself as great a statesman as he was a soldier and the country retained him in the highest office of the land for two terms.

There is not a true patriot in the country who does not mourn over the death of Grant and messages of sympathy and respect poured in on his arriving family from nearly all parts of the globe. Tokens of mourning are displayed everywhere and will remain until the day of the funeral.

THE following bill was passed by the last Legislature and is a now a law:

WHEREAS, The law against gambling and lotteries are evaded by the selling of tickets entitling the holders thereof to money or articles of value as inducements to purchasers, to the injury of legitimate business.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, etc., That any merchant, manufacturer, importer, retailer or dealer, doing business within this Commonwealth, who shall offer, give or sell, or authorize, or permit any agent, salesman, or employe to offer, give or sell any purchaser or customer any ticket or tickets, check or checks, or other tokens or memoranda, entitling such purchaser or customer to demand or receive money or any article of value, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding $100, or suffer imprisonment not exceeding one year, or either, or both, at the discretion of the Court; provided, that this act shall not go into force for one calendar month after its first approval by the Governor.

This ends all species of gambling in Pennsylvania so far as law can put a stop to it, including prizes at church fairs, festivals, etc.—Ex.

The Late Minister Phelps' Body.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The remains of ex-United States Minister Phelps, who died recently at Lima, Peru, will be sent to Washington the 1st prox. They will arrive here the latter part of August. Information received here to-day was to the effect that Mr. Phelps had suffered for nearly three weeks prior to his death from an aggravated attack of pernicious or aroya fever, contracted during a visit to the mountains.

THERE are two things about the decision in the Grant funeral matter which do not seem to meet the approval of the American people. First that the burial ceremonies will not take place before August 8th, which seems an unnecessary delay, and second the choice of one of the Parks of New York as a burial place, instead of Washington, the national capital. There is the one consolation however, that the deceased hero is beyond all the trifling and provoking differences, wherever he may rest.

GEORGE W. CHILDS, of whom some anecdotes appear on our outside, and who is a staunch friend of the Grant family, will have control of all the details of the deceased ex-president's funeral which will take place on the eighth of August. The remains of Grant will be buried in Riverside Park, New York.

GENERAL Grant's widow is amply provided for financially. Her estate will be at least $500,000, without the $5000 annuity, which will be voted to her by Congress. This is more money than any of the widows of former Presidents had at command.

—ONE dose of McDonald's Great Blood Purifier or Sarsaparillian Alterative is guaranteed to contain more alterative properties, more truly remedial power than three doses of any other known alterative or blood purifier. Many other blood remedies are good enough in their way, only that you are compelled to buy a gallon of medicine to get a pint of remedy; the manufacturers having sacrificed strength and usefulness to palatability and profit. McDonald's Blood Purifier is put up in seventy-five cent bottles containing as much as most dollar bottles of other makes. Dissatisfied purchasers can have their money refunded.

Democratic County Convention and Delegate Election.

The following rules are furnished for the guidance of members of the County Committee in holding the Delegate Elections on Saturday, August 8, 1885:

The Democratic voters of Centre county will meet at the regular places of holding the general elections for their districts, on to elect delegates to the Democratic County Convention. The election will open at 2 o'clock p. m., and close at 6 o'clock p. m.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 8, 1885,

The delegates chosen at the above time will meet in the Court House, in Bellefonte, on TUESDAY, AUGUST 11, 1885,

at 2 o'clock p. m., to nominate one candidate for Jury Commissioner and one candidate for Coroner, and to transact such other business as the interests of the party may require.

The number of delegates to which each district is entitled is as follows:

Bellefonte, N. W.	2	Haines, W. P	3
" S. W	3	" E. P	2
" W. W	1	Howard twp	2
Milesburg borough	1	Huston twp	1

Howard borough	1	Marion twp	2
Philipsburg, 1st w.	1	Miles twp	5
" 2d w	2	Patton twp	1
" 3d w	1	Penn twp	3
Unionville borough	1	Potter twp., N. P	3
Benner twp	3	" " S. P	4
Boggs twp., E. P	2	Rush twp., N. P	3
" W. P	2	" S. P	1
Burnside twp	1	Snow Shoe township, E. P	2
Curtin twp	1	Snow Shoe township, W. P	2
College twp	2	Spring twp	4
Ferguson, E. P	3	Taylor twp	1
" W. P	1	Union twp	2
Gregg, N. P	2	Walker twp	4
" S. P	5	Worth twp	2
Halfmoon twp	1
Harris twp	3

The delegate elections must be conducted in accordance with the following rules:

1. The Democratic County Convention of Centre county shall be composed of one delegate for every fifty Democratic votes polled at the Presidential or Gubernatorial election next preceeding the convention. The allotment of delegates to the several election districts in the county shall be made by the Standing Committee of the county at its first meeting in every alternate year succeeding the Presidential and Guternatorial elections, and shall be in proportion to the Democratic votes cast in each district at such elections.

2. The election for delegates to represent the different districts in the annual Democratic County Convention shall be held at the usual place of holding the general elections for each district, on the Saturday preceeding the second Tuesday of August in each and every year, beginning at 2 o'clock p. m., on said day and continuing until 6 o'clock p. m. The delegates so elected shall meet in County Convention at the Court House, at Bellefonte, on the Tuesday following at 2 o'clock p. m.

3. The said delegate elections shall be held by an election board, to consist of the member of county committee for each district and two other Democratic voters thereof who shall be appointed or designated by the County Committee. In case any of the persons so constituting the board shall be absent from the place of holding the election for a quarter of an hour after the time appointed by Rule First for the opening of the same, his or their places shall be filled by an election, to be conducted viva voce, by the Democratic voters present at that time.

4. Every qualified voter of the district, who at the late general election voted the Democratic ticket shall be entitled to a vote at the delegate election; and any qualified elector of the district who will pledge his word of honor to support the Democratic ticket at the next general election shall be permitted to vote at the delegate elections.

5. The voting at all delegate elections shall be by ballot; upon which ballot shall be written or printed the name or names of the delegate or delegates voted for, together with any instructions which the voter may desire to give the delegate or delegates. Each ballot shall be received from the person voting the same by a member of the election board, and by him deposited in a box or other receptacle provided for that purpose, to which box or other receptacle no person but members of the board shall have access.

6. No instructions shall be received or recognized unless the same be voted upon the ballot as provided in Rule Fourth, nor shall such instructions if voted upon the ballot, be binding upon the delegates, unless one half or more of the ballots shall contain instructions concerning the same office. Whenever half or more of the ballots shall contain instructions concerning any office, the delegates elected at such elections shall be held to be instructed to support the candidates having the highest number of votes for such office.

7 Each election board shall keep an accurate list of the names of all persons voting at such elections, when the list of voters, together with a full and complete return of such election, containing an accurate statement of the persons elected delegates and all instructions voted, shall be certified by said board to the county convention, upon printed blanks to be furnished by the county committee.

8th. Wherever from any district qualified Democratic voters, in numbers equal to five times the delegates which such district has in the county convention, shall complain in writing of an undue election or false return of delegates or of instructions, in which complaints the alleged facts shall be specifically set forth and verified by the affidavit of one or more persons, such complaints shall have the right to contest the seat of such delegates or the validity of such instructions. Such complaint shall be heard by a committee of five delagates to be appointed by the president of the convention; which said committee shall proceed to hear the parties, proofs and allegations, and as soon as may be report to the convention what delegates are entitled to seats therein, and what instructions are binding upon such delegates. Whereupon the convention shall proceed immediately upon the call of the yeas and nays to adopt or reject the report of the contesting parties; in which call of the yeas and nays the names of the delegates whose seats are contested or whose instructions are disputed shall be omitted.

9th. All delegates must reside in the district they represent. In case of absence or inability to attend, substitutions may be made from citizens of the district.

10th. Delegates must obey the instructions given them by their respective districts, and, if violated, it shall be the duty of the president of the convention to cast the vote of such delegate or delegates in accordance with the instructions, and the delegate or delegates so offending shall be forthwith expelled from the convention, and shall not be eligible to any office or place of trust in the party for a period of two years.

11th. In the convention, a majority of all voters shall be necessary to a nomination; and no person's name shall be excluded from the list of candidates until after the third ballot or vote, when the person receiving the least number of votes shall be omitted and struck from the roll, and so on at each successive vote until a nomination be made.

12th. If any person who is a candidate for any nomination before a county convention shall be proven to have offered or paid any money, or other valuable thing, or made any promise of a consideration or reward to any delegate for his vote, or to any person with a view of inducing or securing the votes of delegates, or if the same shall be done by any other person with the knowledge and consent of such candidate, the name of such candidate shall be immediately stricken from the list of candidates; or if such fact be ascertained after his nomination, shall be struck from the ticket and the vacancy supplied by a new nomination, and in either case, such person shall be ineligible to any nomination by the convention, or to an election as a delegate thereafter And in case it shall be alleged after the adjourning of the convention that any candidate put in nomination has been guilty of such acts or of any other fraudulent practices to obtain such nomination, the charges shall be investigated by the county committee, and such steps taken as the good of the party may require.

13th. If any delegate shall receive any money or other valuable thing, or accept the promises of any consideration or reward to be paid, delivered or secured to him or to any person for such candidate, as an inducement for his vote, upon proof of the fact to the satisfaction of the convention, such delegate shall be forthwith expelled, and shall not be received as a delegate to any further convention, and shall be ineligible to any party nomination.

14th Cases arising under the 8th 12th and 13th rules shall have precedence over all other business in convention until determined.

15th. That the term of the chairman of the county committee shall begin on the first day of January of each and every year.

16th. That the delegates from the several boroughs and townships be authorized, in conjunction with the chairman of the county committee, to appoint the members of the committee for the various boroughs and townships.

Attention, Doctors.

Everybody knows that the life of the average physician is a hard one. He is often compelled to ride great distances through mud and rain for a merely nominal fee. It is not fit nor proper for us to condemn any physician for his work, but we do assert that his practice can be made easier, and he can effect more cures by the proper and judicious use of PERUNA. If he will only add this great remedy to his list of medicines, he will find that his usefulness will be greatly increased. Full direction for its use will be found in the "Ills of Life," and he should at once procure this valuable book.

N. J. Wright, Business Agent Evening Herald, Erie, Pa., says: "DR. HARTMAN—I can not but feel it my duty to express to you my thanks for the great benefit I received from the use of your medicines, PERUNA and MANALIN. One bottle of each placed me square on my feet, after a sickness of four weeks, which confined me to my bed, and then left me lame and crippled. Three days from the commencement of the use of your remedies the cane was dispensed with, and in a week I was perfectly well."

Mrs. Ellen Maynard, Oswego, Potter county, Pa., writes: "DR. HARTMAN, Columbus, O. The small ulcers are all healed, and the two large ones are not more than half as large as they were. I am feeling quite well. The people say your PERUNA and MANALIN are doing a miracle. I do not take nearly so much opium as I did before."

Joseph Thomas, East Brady, Pa., writes: "I have used your PERUNA and MANALIN with good results. In the year of 1880 I was so bad that I could scarcely walk. I used PERUNA and MANALIN, and am now as healthy as I have ever been. I have also recommended it to several parties, and they have been much benefited by it."

Mr. C. H. Harris, New Vienna, Ohio, writes: "Our little girl was paralyzed at thirteen months old, and we resorted to everything we could hear of for relief, but she appeared to get but little better. Hearing of PERUNA we concluded to try it, and will say it has done her a great deal of good—the first bottle apparently giving aid and relief. We have used it for nervousness in other cases on other persons and found it a success. For general debility, and in fact for any disease, we don't think anything else can at all compare with it. We have used forty or fifty bottles, and our house is never without PERUNA. Our little girl is now eight years old, and can run any place, was for four years helpless. PERUNA cured her."

AYER'S Hair Vigor cures baldness. Hair Vigor restores youthful freshness and color to faded and gray hair. It attains these results by the stimulation of the hair roots and color glands. It rejuvenates the HAIR and cleanses it. It restores to the HAIR that, either by reason of age or diseases of the scalp, has become dry, harsh and brittle, a pliancy and glossy silken softness of extreme beauty. There is no dye in Ayer's Hair and the good it does is by the VIGOR it imparts to the follicles, and the cleanliness and healthfulness of the condition in which it maintains the scalp.

AYER'S Hair Vigor renews the hair. Hair Vigor is the best cure known for Brashy Hair, Scald Head, Itching Humors, Tetter Sores, Torpid Follicles, and all other diseases of the scalp that cause the falling of the HAIR and its fading. Nothing cleanses of the nuisance of dandruff so perfectly, and so effectually prevents its return, as AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. In addition to the curative and restorative virtues peculiar to Ayer's Hair VIGOR it is a toilet luxury. The Hair is by far the cleanliest hair-dressing made. It causes the hair to grow thick and long, and keeps it always soft and glossy.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

Contains no deleterious ingredients. Its use prevents all scalp disease, secures against the hair growing thin or gray, and surely cures all baldness th is not organic.

—The Penn street school house bell, which has been silent for a few weeks, on Monday morning again rang out its invitation to young America to come to the house of learning. M. I. Jamison holds the scepter as teacher. The school is fairly attended.

—The Misses S. E. Adams, Emily J. Adams, Carrie Adams and Helen Gause, four young ladies from Harrisburg, arrived in town last Wednesday and registered at the First National, intending to summer there. Millheim is becoming quite a resort for city folks.

LOOK HERE.—I cure Piles. I have a positive remedy for piles. By its use many cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. It cures as if by magic. Money refunded to dissatisfied patients. Address,

H. K. SUMMERS, Aaronsburg, Pa.

—MUSICAL COLLEGE.—The 28th Session of six weeks, opens Monday evening, July 27, for the study and Training of Young Ladies in Vocal and Instrumental Music. For circulars, address

F. C. MOYER, Director,
Freeburgh, Pa.

—At noon on Friday, when the first intelligence of Gen. Grant's death reached this town through the daily papers the bells of all our churches and the public school house were rung and tolled and the large flag on the diamond displayed with heavy mourning. Some private residences were decorated in a similar manner as a sign of respect to the dead hero of our country.

—A Specialty—Cashmeres at Kauffman's store.

MUSIC SCHOOL.—The next session of the Mifflinburg Music School will open August 10th, 1885. Instructions will be given in Voice Culture, Harmony, Piano, Organ, Violin and Guitar.

KATE L. SHRINER, Principal,
Mifflinburg, Pa.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS.—J. H. Frank, west of Millheim, gives notice that he has for sale a superior quality of Wheat, which he calls "Farmers' friend," for seeding purposes. Farmers desiring some of this excellent wheat are requested to apply to him.

—Under "legal advertisements" will be found the sale notice of Adam Weaver, executor of the estate of Adam Weaver, deceased, late of Haines township. This property had been offered for sale last winter, but was not disposed of. Time of sale, Saturday, August 22nd, at 1 o'clock.

—The horse jockeys on Monday evening took Mr. McMullen of this place and his horse along to Union county. But in the Narrows they somehow got rid of McMullen and drove off with his horse. Mr. M. walked home the same night and sent the constable after the fine gentlemen the next day.

—With feelings of profound respect and deep gratitude I acknowledge the receipt of a new suit of clothes, made to order, and valued at $27.00, a present from the people of Millheim. J. W. Stover and I. E. Couldren deserve my special thanks and prayers.

C. W. RAVER, U. B. Pastor.

NOTICE.—Having been appointed agent by the Middletown Tube & Iron Company of Middletown, Pa., for the sale of their Iron Pipes, &c, all persons needing anything in this line will save money by calling on me.

Hay Fever Specific.

I found it a specific for Hay Fever. For ten years I have been a great sufferer from August 9th till frost. Ely's Cream Balm is the only preventive I have ever found.—Frank B. Ainsworth, of F. B. Ainsworth & Co., Publishers, Indianapolis, Ind. 28-4t

—Jacob Emerick, Esq., of Greenbriar, Penn twp., we are sorry to say, is in a very bad state of health. A bullet which he carries in his head ever since the late war has caused him more or less trouble all along. But of late he has suffered intensely from the wound and has partly been robbed of his eyesight.

—Not a particle of calomel or any other deleterious substance enters into the composition of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. On the contrary, they prove of special service to those who have used calomel and other mineral poisons as medicines, and feel their injurious effects. In such cases Ayer's Pills are invaluable.

—Among other little reports which find their way mysteriously into our sanctum sanctorum, we got a hold of a very interesting and spicy affair which took place last week. It was a tub race in the mill race and the young la—— parties had a fine time in the tubs. But we are not giving you away and will stop right here.

GOOD FOR MALARIA.—E. James, Thompsontown, Pa., writes:

'J. A. McDonald.

DEAR SIR.—Send me two dozen boxes of your Liver Pills at once. Some of our people say they have cured them of chills and fever and they do not want to be without them.'

—Adam Bartges, of Penn township, who has been traveling through the western countries for the last six weeks returned home last week and is well pleased with his trip and what he has seen. He handed us the addresses of several parties in the West who would like to have copies of the JOURNAL sent, with a view of subscribing. They will find it the right paper for news from their former home.

—We would suggest to our town council to issue a request to the citizens of Millheim borough to drape their places of business and residence suitably on the day of Gen. Grant's funeral and have the bells of the different churches tolled at the hour of the obsequies. This would be in keeping with similar arrangements in other towns and should be done out of respect to the distinguished soldier and statesman.

—The Ladies' Mite Society of the Reformed church at Aaronsburg will give a musical and literary entertainment in their church on Friday evening the 7th of August. The Kister brothers and the Ocker sisters will contribute to the musical part of the programme. W. T. Auman, the master elocutionist of Millheim, will render some of his best selections. The entertainment will be free and all are invited to attend.

NOTICE.—Having been appointed agent by A. Speirs, North Windham, Maine, for the sale of his Portable Force Sprinkler for extinguishing fire, washing windows, carriages, sprinkling lawns, streets and gardens I beg to inform the public that I have already sold quite a number of this handy and cheap article and that it gives universal satisfaction. The Sprinkler throws a strong stream of water from 60 to 70 feet. Apply to W. N. AUMAN,

Millheim, Pa.

—The finest line of shoes in the county at Kauffman's new store, Millheim.

—Remember that this office does job work cheap and satisfactory. We are constantly adding new material to our job stock and are fully prepared to turn out letter heads, bill heads, envelopes, statements, circulars, cards, posters, &c. in first-class style. Give us a call.

—A large crowd of people assembled at the new foundry dam, north of town to witness the tubrace on Saturday evening. There were two contestants—J. H. Maize receiving the first prize ($1.50) and R. H. Kreamer the second ($1.00). Three boys joined the sport for a smaller prize—Charles Musser being the winner. A drum corps furnished the music.

—On Monday evening a party of horse jockeyes had a fandango in the alley back of the First National Hotel. For a time matters looked as if there would be a general fist fight, but all parties cooled down in due time. Had it not been at such a secluded place, the "cooler" over the race would likely have been used to subdue the spirited heat of the boisterous party.

MISTAKEN CONSUMPTIVES.—In the treatment of lung and bronchial diseases the liver is often implicated to such an extent that a hepatic remedy becomes necessary in effecting a cure of the lungs. In the treatment of such cases I prescribe Simmons Liver Regulator with entire satisfaction.

I. L. STEPHENSON, M. D.,
Owensboro, Ky.

—The finest monument we have ever seen exhibited in the Millheim Marble Works is at present standing in the front yard of the shops. It was cut of red Tennessee marble, highly polished, with rough edges and inscriptions and from the base to the top of the square shaft its heighth is about ten feet. A. C. Musser, the proprietor of the shops, manufactured this fine piece of work for the estate of Peter S. Bierly, dec'd, of Rebersburg.

CAMP MEETING.—Preparations are being made by the association for annual camp meeting at Clintondale, convening August 13th. The board of managers decided by a vote of 5 to 4 to have the meeting this year. Some of the members seem to desire to abandon the old time way of worshiping in the woods. That more harm is done than good, that the Sabbath is desecrated and not kept holy. The rules however will be strict and the best ministers will be in attendance. The crowd no doubt will be large.—Clinton Democrat.

LAY THEM AWAY.—We mean the horrible, nauseous worm-seed compounds called worm syrups and vermifuges; many of them as worthless as they are obnoxious. They have out-lived their usefulness. People do not want them since McDonald's Celebrated Worm Powders, so easy and pleasant to take, can be had from any dealer. Everyone who has tried them say they are the nicest and best vermifuges ever discovered. The children take them and never know a medicine is being administered. Any case of failure to cause expulsion where worms exist the money promptly refunded in every instance.

Leave Bellefonte at 9:25 p. m., arrive at Lemont at 9:50 and at Spring Mills at 10:35.

SUDDEN DEATH OF AN AARONSBURG CITIZEN.—John J. Frank, the subject of this notice, unexpectedly departed this life on Sunday last. He attended his stock as usual in the morning of said day, took his cows to pasture about a mile from town, and on his return ate a hearty breakfast. After that he complained of pain at his heart and took his bed. Between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock he felt better and leaving his bed he sat upon a chair on his front porch and read a newspaper. Soon the pain returned and again he went to bed and it was for the last time. A few minutes before 12 o'clock he expired without a struggle, of paralysis of the heart. Deseased leaves a widow to mourn his death. He was buried on Tuesday forenoon in the Lutheran cemetery, Rev. M. L. Deitzler officiating.

IT WENT ROUND AMONG THE NEIGHBORS.—Mr. Levi Stahl, merchant and postmaster at Fostoria, Pa., writes:

'Mr. J. A. McDonald, Reedsville, Pa.

DEAR SIR.—Some time ago I had a severe attack of chronic diarrhoea. Could obtain no relief. A friend gave me a part of a bottle of your Curtis' Carmelite Cordial, and a few doses entirely cured me. The balance of the bottle went around among the neighbors. Since then I have written to New York and Philadelphia for the medicine but could not procure it. I traced up the bottle we had and found it was purchased of Mr. Jacob Cowan, merchant in Altoona, and from him obtained your address. Please forward me one dozen bottles by express at once, as I do not wish to be without it in my family and wish to sell it in my store.'

Single bottle Curtis' Carmelite Cordial guaranteed to cure any case cholera, dysentery, diarrhœa; cramps, pains, and all irritation of the bowels incident to change of climate, diet or water.

SMITH TOWN.

Last Friday while Squire Duck was hauling a load of shingles, one of the horses fell and his whole weight rested on Mr Duck's legs. His limbs were badly bruised by the accident.

Squire Smith, from near Penn Hall, was the first one to buy some of the "Farmers' Friend Wheat" from J. H. Frank. He took a two-horse load.

Israel Spayd and sister were visiting here.

On Saturday afternoon W. C. Duck brought a four-horse load of boards to the picnic grove, where some 30 men and boys were engaged in cleaning the ground. They work like beavers and seem to be determined to make a big thing out of the harvest home.

Miss Katie McCool left for Spring Mills, until after campmeeting. Quite a trip now for Mr. F.

George Royer has a smile for everybody since that little girl of his arrived.

Oscar Duck, the boss thresher, with Prof. Baney as engineer thrashed J. H. Frank's crop of wheat last Friday. Said crop was raised from one grain, sown five years ago, and increased as follows: First year he got 25 heads from the one grain, from those he got 2 quarts and a pint the second year, from that 1¼ bushels the third year, 34 bushels and 1 peck the fourth and 362 bushels this (the fifth year.)

JUMBO.

AARONSBURG.

—Query—Who is the Aaronsburg correspondent?

The Williamsport Grit is delivered to its patrons by a new carrier.

Hol. Crouse and lady, from Lock Haven, were in town during Saturday and Sunday last.

The memorial windows in the new Reformed church make a very fine appearance.

One of our young men went around to see the sights on last Saturday evening. He went to see and be seen.

C. G. Bright says he has picked 35 quarts of raspberries from the vines in his garden this season. They are the Red Cap variety.

Our academy, under Prof. Noll's management, opened on last Monday morning. Judging from the number in attendance on the first day he will have a large school.

There was a "knock down" and "drag out" at Immel's hotel on last Monday afternoon. Andy had his thumb knocked out of position. Doctor Mingle was called and fixed him up all right again.

Henry Weaver says its a fine one—that meerschaum pipe he received through the mail as a present. But he would like to know who the giver is, so that he may return his thanks.

ANOTHER.

COBURN.

Coburn was full of Philadelphia bummers last week.

E.M. Clark has a good trade—selling ice cream.

What has become of our festival?

Since Monday the 20th we can go to Bellefonte by rail.

F. Brenninghower says he intends to get married before October first if he can get the wherewithal.

H. H. Trumpfheller paid our town a short visit again last week.

A tub race in the near future is spoken of at this place.

On Sunday, while Adam Rickard was to Millheim, attending church, some scoundrel entered his house and made away with a lot of eatables and and $5, in money. Z.

Spring Mills.

One day last week, as Prof. D. M. Wolf and Mr. J. G. Evans were driving through our town the horse frightened at some paper lying on the road and became unmanageable. In an instant the buggy was upset and both gentlemen were thrown violently to the ground. At first it was thought that Mr. Evans was fatally injured, but we are glad to hear that he is not considered dangerous. He sustained several painful bruises but no bones were broken. Prof. Wolf escaped with only a few little scars.

David Brown, Esq., formerly of Hublersburg, this county, but now of Stephenson Co., Ill., was the guest of Wm. Pealer one day last week. David is very proud of his young son.

Our academy is well patronized this term, which commenced last Monday.

MADISONBURG.

Prof. L. Bierly's school opened on last Monday morning with quite a number of students from Sugar Valley The attendance is much larger than it was last spring.

Two of Mr. Hoy's daughters, of near Bellefonte were visiting at Benj. Roushes in the early part of the week.

George Limbert is attending school at Spring Mills.

J. L. Roush intends canvassing Brush and Sugar Valleys in the near future with "The History of the Reformed Church."

Two of our young ladies got hold of some dynamite cartridges and hastened to destroy them in an alley near by. They lit the fuse, but somehow the cartridges would not discharge. One of the ladies went to see about it and while turning one of the dangerous shells with her foot it exploded and relieved her of one of her shoes in the twinkling of an eye. The reader may imagine the fright of the ladies.

STILL.

DIED.

On the 26th inst., at Woodward, Miss Minnie Wise, aged 22 years and 10 months.

Funeral took place Tuesday forenoon, Revs. B. Hengst and S. M. Mountz officiating.

TAKE SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

For all Diseases of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Spleen.

This purely vegetable preparation, now so celebrated as a Family Medicine, originated in the South in 1828. It acts gently on the Bowels and Kidneys and corrects the action of the Liver, and is, therefore, the best preparatory medicine, whatever the sickness may prove to be. In all common diseases it will, unassisted by any other medicine, effect a speedy cure.

The Regulator is safe to administer in any condition of the system, and under no circumstances can it do harm. It will invigorate like a glass of wine, but is no intoxicating beverage to lead to intemperance; will promote digestion, dissipate headache, and generally tone up the system. The dose is small, not unpleasant, and its virtues undoubted.

No loss of time, no interruption or stoppage of business while taking the Regulator.

Children complaining of Colic, Headache, or Sick Stomach, a teaspoonful or more will give relief.

If taken occasionally by patients exposed to MALARIA, will expel the poison and protect them from attack.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system. L. M. HINTON, M. D., Washington, Ark.

SEE THAT YOU GET THE GENUINE.

Surface Indications

What a miner would very properly term "surface indications" of what is beneath, are the Pimples, Sties, Sore Eyes, Boils, and Cutaneous Eruptions with which people are annoyed in spring and early summer. The effete matter accumulated during the winter months, now makes its presence felt, through Nature's endeavors to expel it from the system. While it remains, it is a poison that festers in the blood and may develop into Scrofula. This condition causes derangement of the digestive and assimilatory organs, with a feeling of enervation, languor, and weariness—often lightly spoken of as "only spring fever." These are evidences that Nature is not able, unaided, to throw off the corrupt atoms which weaken the vital forces. To regain health, Nature must be aided by a thorough blood-purifying medicine; and nothing else is so effective as which is sufficiently powerful to expel from the system even the taint of Hereditary Scrofula.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

The medical profession indorse AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and many attestations of the cures effected by it come from all parts of the world. It is, in the language of the Hon. Francis Jewett, ex-State Senator of Massachusetts and ex-Mayor of Lowell, "the only preparation that does real, lasting good."

GEN. GRANT'S DEATH.

SCENE IN THE CHAMBER OF DEATH — HOW THE ILLUSTRIOUS SUFFERER PASSED AWAY

A few minutes before 8 o'clock Drs. Douglas, Shrady and Sands stood on the cottage veranda conversing of the condition of General Grant, and discussing the probabilities of his death, and the limit of life left the sick man. Mrs. Sartoris and stenographer Dawson were conversing a little distance away, when Henry, the nurse, stepped hastily upon the piazza and spoke quietly to the physicians.

He told them he thought the General was very near to death. The medical men hastily entered the room where the sick man was lying, and approached his side. Instantly upon scanning the patient's face Dr. Douglas ordered the family to be summoned to the bedside.

Haste was made and Mrs. Grant, Mr. Jesse and wife, U. S. Grant, Jr., and wife and Mrs. Colonel Grant were quickly beside the doctors at the sick man's cot. Mrs. Sartoris and Mr. Dawson had followed the doctors in from the piazza, and the entire party was present except Colonel Fred. Grant. Hasty summons were sent for him, but he entered the sick room while the messenger was searching for him.

The Colonel seated himself at the head of the bed with his left arm resting upon the pillow above the head of the General, who was breathing rapidly and with slightly gasping respirations. Mrs. Grant, calm but with intense agitation bravely suppressed, took a seat close by the bedside. She leaned slightly upon the cot, resting upon her right elbow and gazing with tear-blinded eyes upon the General's face. She found there, however, no token of recognition, for the sick man was peacefully and painlessly passing into another life. Mrs. Sartoris came behind her mother, and leaning over her shoulder, so witnessed the close of a life in which she had constituted a strong element of pride. Directly behind Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Sartoris, and at a little distance removed, stood Drs. Douglas, Shrady and Sands, spectators of a closing life their efforts and counsel had so long prolonged. On the opposite side of the bed from his mother and directly before her stood Jesse Grant and U. S. Grant, Jr., and near the corner of the cot on the same side as Jesse and near to each was Mr. M. Dawson, the General's stenographer and confidential secretary. At the foot of the bed and gazing directly down into the General's face was Mrs. Col. Fred Grant, Mrs. U. S. Grant, Jr., and Mrs. Jesse Grant, while some what removed from the family circle, Henry, the nurse, and Harrison Tyrrell, the General's body servant, were respectfully watching the closing life of the patient and their master. Dr. Newman had repaired to the hotel to breakfast, and was not present. The General's little grandchildren, U. S. Grant, Jr., and Nellie were sleeping the sleep of child hood in the nursery room above stairs. Otherwise the entire family and household were gathered at the bedside of the dying man. The members of the group had been summoned not a moment sooner than was prudent. The doctors noted on entering the room and passing to the bedside that already the purplish tinge, which is one of nature's signals of final dissolution had settled beneath the finger nails. The hand that Dr. Douglas lifted was fast growing colder than it had been through the night. The pulse had fluttered beyond the point where the physician could distinguish it from the pulse-beats in his own finger tips. The respiration was very rapid and was a succession of shallow panting inhalations. The respirations grew quicker and more rapid at the close; they also became less labored and almost noiseless. This fact was in its results a comfort to the watchers by the bedside to whom was spared the scene of an agonizing or other than a peaceful death. The wife almost constantly stroked the face, forehead and hands of the dying General, and at times, as the passionate longing to prevent the event so near would rise within her, Mrs. Grant pressed both his hands, and leaning forward tenderly kissed the face of the sinking man. Colonel Fred sat silently but with evident feeling, though his bearing was that of a soldierly son at the death bed of a hero father. U. S. Grant, Jr., was deeply moved, and Jesse bore the scene steadily, and the ladies, while watching with wet cheeks, were silent as befitted the dignity of a life such as was closing before them. The morning had passed five minutes beyond 8 o'clock, and there was not one of the strained and waiting watchers but who could mark the nearness of the life-tide to its final ebbing. Dr. Douglas noted the nearness of the supreme moment, and quietly approached the bedside and bent over it, and while he did so the sorrow of the gray-haired physician seemed closely allied with that of the family. Dr. Shrady also drew near.

It was seven minutes after 8 o'clock and the eyes of the General were closing. His breathing grew more hushed as the last functions of the heart and lungs were hastened to the closing of the ex-President's life. A peaceful expression seemed to be deepening in the firm and strong-lined face, and it was reflected as a closing comfort in the sad hearts that beat quickly under the stress of loving suspense. A minute more passed and was closing as the General drew a deeper breath, There was an exhalation like that of one relieved of long and anxious tension. The members of the group were impelled a step nearer the bed, and each awaited another respiration, but it never came. There was absolute stillness in the room, and a hush of expectant surprise, and no sound broke the silence save the singing of the birds in the pines outside the cottage, and the measured throbbing of the engine that all night had waited by the little mountain depot down the slope.

"It is all over," quietly spoke Dr. Douglas, and there came then heavily to each witness the realization that General Grant was dead. Then the doctors withdrew, the nurse closed down the eyelids and composed the dead General's head, after which each of the family group pressed to the bedside one after the other and touched their lips upon the quiet face so lately stilled.

QUAKER

Is the Best

TABLE SAUCE.

Thousands of articles are now manufactured that in former years had to be imported, paying high import duty as it is now being done on Lea & Perrins table sauce; the QUAKER TABLE SAUCE takes its place; it has been pronounced by competent judges just as good and even better. The QUAKER SAUCE has Slowly but surely gained great importance and is replacing the very best imported sauce on the shelf of the grocer, the tables of the restaurant and the tables of the rich and poor men, greatly prized and relished by all on account of its piquancy, aroma, taste, strength and pureness. The inventor has by years of study of the secret virtues contained in the aromatic spices of the Indies and China, such as mace, nutmeg, cinnamon, genuine Jamaica ginger, and peppers and buds of trees unknown to most men, and by long practice succeeded to combine their extracts in such a liquid form as we now find it, of agreeable taste, and so invigorating as to be taken in place of stomach bitters. By manufacturing this sauce here, heavy import duties and freights are saved, and it is sold at a lower figure to the dealer, who making a better profit on Quaker Sauce can sell it to the consumer cheaper than the very best imported article hardly equaling ours. If your grocer does not keep it, write us for prices, etc. Sold in bottles or by the gallon.

ELIXIR

For the cure of

Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Influenza, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir is used its efficacy is at once manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable, if properly attended to.—At its commencement it is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the Lungs; then an inflamation, when the cough is rather dry, local fever, and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflamation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.

It heals the ulcerated surfaces and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which are of so drying a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the CAUSE, consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions, free.

Price 35 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per bottle.
